- NSW number plates always remain the property of Transport for NSW.
- Transport for NSW does not replace lost, stolen or destroyed plates with the same content except in limited circumstances
- If you are not already recorded on the computer system of Transport for NSW, you must attend a service centre in person and provide proof of identity.
- If you are sending a representative to a service centre to conduct business on your behalf, sign the declaration and fill in the Representative Authority section of this form (see sections 8 and 9).
- Use Trader's Plate Application form 1100 to order or replace trader's plates.
- If your vehicle has liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) or compressed natural gas (CNG) installed or is electric, hybrid or hydrogen powered, you are legally required to display appropriate warning labels on the vehicle's number plates. These labels must not obscure any information on the number plate. Heavy fines may apply if these labels are not attached.
- Direct Delivery terms and conditions are available online at myplates.com.au
- For number plate sales and enquiries contact MyPlates on 13 17 58 or go to myplates.com.au
