Port of Broughton Island

The Port of Broughton Island comprises the navigable waters of the Tasman Sea below the mean high water mark enclosed by the arc of a circle of radius three nautical miles having as its centre the navigation light on Little Broughton Island.

NOTE: Map is indicative only - see description for details.