

Archbold Road upgrade and extension

Planning approval obtained

Roads and Maritime Services | December 2017

The NSW Government is planning for a future upgrade and extension of Archbold Road between the Great Western Highway, Minchinbury and Old Wallgrove Road, Eastern Creek. Once complete, Archbold Road would be a key north-south route providing access to the Western Sydney Employment Area.

In May and June 2017, Roads and Maritime Services invited comments from the community and stakeholders on the Review of Environmental Factors and concept design for the Archbold Road upgrade and extension.

We received 29 submissions and have summarised the feedback and our responses in a Submissions Report, which is available on our website rms.nsw.gov.au/Archboldroad. We have responded in the report directly to each of the questions or concerns raised.

After considering all responses, we have made some changes to the proposal and have obtained planning approval to progress the proposal to the next phase. We thank everyone for considering the proposal and for the feedback.

Changes to the proposal

Following the consultation period, some changes were made to the concept design to address concerns raised by the community and stakeholders. These changes include:

- the realignment and redesign of the Robinson Street and Archbold Road intersection to avoid property acquisition impacts on two private residential properties
- raising the height of the earth mound at the M4 Western Motorway and Archbold Road intersection to enhance flood protection to adjacent properties.

What happens next?

Following approval, project details including the design will be provided to the Department of Planning and Environment to reserve the road corridor.

The next phases of the project, detailed design and construction, are subject to funding availability. We will notify you again as the project progresses.
